

JUNE 2025

President's Report

As the weather starts to turn cold I find myself out chasing special photos that can only be found at this time of the year, very well rugged up, of course. I hope some of you are enjoying the same opportunities.

But for those of you who prefer the warmth of a nice heater, this month's activities should suit you. We are having a month of creative ideas. Thanks to Peter and Jason who will both be not only showing us but giving us the opportunity to take a photograph. Make sure you bring your cameras. Matt will also be having a chat about the benefits of doing prints for competitions.

If you are still having trouble getting your triptych images done, we will have computers ready for you to get that sorted and then entered as this will be the last chance to enter.

The following week Greg has our minds back on photo books.

The committee have been working hard to find members who are willing to join them at the coming elections. We still have not found a person to commit to secretary. We all understand that it's a big job and are willing to give the right person as much help as we can.

A club cannot operate unless it has a secretary so please have a good think about how you may be able to help.

For those of you who have shown an interest in being part of our history book we will also have a get together this month to start organising that.

As always if you have anything you would like to chat about feel free to contact me.

SANATORIUM LAKE OUTING

We had a coolish sunny day for the BCC outing to Sanatorium Lake, Mount Macedon.

9 members and 3 visitors had a wonderful day photographing the fungi, ferns, tall trees and moss ... and only 4 leeches for the day!

There were lots of good photographs put up on Facebook and quite a lot of fungi despite the lack of rain.

Thanks to Flic for her perseverance organising the day.

MARKETPLACE

In My Own Words

Welcome, Stewart Davey

My interest in photography stemmed from my grandfather's collection of tools, drafting equipment and camera gear. He owned a German Paxette 35mm camera with a separate light meter. My first roll of film didn't stay attached to the sprocket so the whole roll came back blank.

A gentleman by the name of Henry Hampel suggested to my girlfriend Sandra, that I should join the camera club (1978). The club had recently changed its name from the "Bendigo Photographic Society."

In my early days in the Camera club, meetings were held at the Department of Agriculture in Epsom.

Judges were mainly local, from the Bendigo Institute of TAFE and the Advanced College of Education, later Latrobe University.

Image Right - Mindil Beach sunset at Darwin

There were many memorable outings to the Grampians and VAPS conventions, held at various locations, all over the state. Some of my lifelong friends are still in the Camera club today. Our family holidays were often based on suggestions of club members and standout photo entries in club competitions.

I am grateful for the influence both Rob and Cynthia Watkins have had on all aspects of my photography.

I did develop and print black and white film and prints as a direct result of being in the club, amongst some top print makers. We also learnt to cut and mount our own prints as this was a key point of judging.

I still remember the controversy over introducing commercially produced prints; not to mention the slow drawn-out adoption of digital photography.

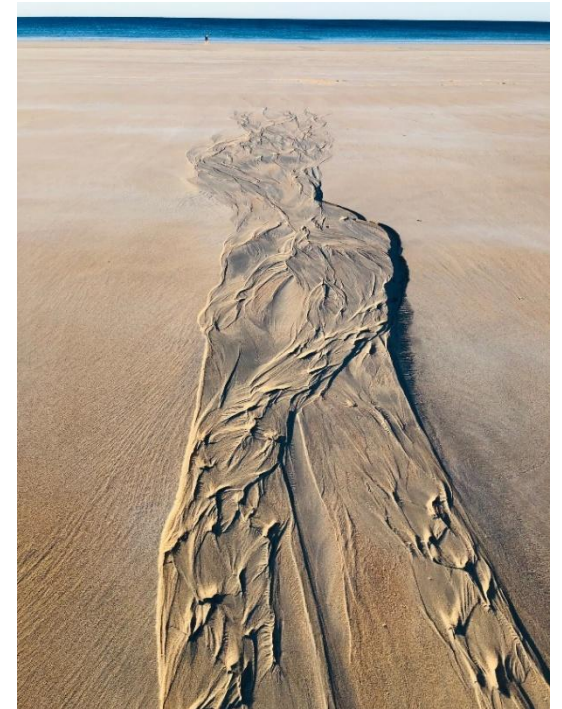

Image above - Queen Victoria Sands, Cable Beach, Western Australia

My interest in diverse subject matters just blossomed, from landscapes to closeup, patterns and textures, portraits and my favourites, architecture, leading lines and mossy rocks.

My equipment was all Pentax screw mount until I upgraded in 2011 to a Cannon 60D.
